ADVERTISE THE TAXES SAYS MAGAZINE EDITOR

NOCK OF THE AMERICAN SAYS ALBERTA OVERLOOKS THE MOST IMPORTANT IMMIGRATION LITERATURE OF ANY—IS STUDYING SOCIAL PROBLEMS

In the person of Albert Jay Nock, editorial writer of the American Magazine, Edmonton has for the past several days been entertaining unawares a man who can speak to more people than any other one man who has visited the city for many a long day, and his impression of Edmonton is such that the city is due to receive some very favorable publicity from his pen.

Mr. Nock is on a tour of the west studying social problems. He has been heard in New York of the municipal ownership city of Edmonton and of the single tax city of Vancouver and he came west himself to see the two cities and see how these innovations were working out.

"You know," he says, "I had my first ride in a municipal-owned street railway here in Edmonton, and to me it was in the nature of a sensation."

Mr. Nock also had the experience of speaking for the first time in his life over a municipality-owned telephone. In New York, in his own office, he is a patron of the largest telephone service on the continent, a service on which he can call up any one of a million or more people, but when he picked up the automatic instrument in the board of trade office here the other day he had to get the stenographer to show him how to ring up. The man from Gotham came to Edmonton to see if there was anything he could learn, and he found it right away.

The thing, however, which impresses Mr. Nock most about Edmonton and Alberta is expressed by him when he says: "I like this city and I like this country. The thing I like about it most is that it seems to me that you people here are leaving how to live. I am not so much interested in knowing that there are chances for making money in this or any other country, but I am interested in knowing that this country is grappling with the science of living, and that it is making an effort to create a condition of affairs under which it will be possible for the average citizen to make his lot comfortable if he wants that comfort badly enough to work for it. We are not doing that in the United States. This country is making enormous drafts on the population of United States now, but if you people continue along the line you are going there will come a time when we will have difficulty in keeping our farmers from coming over here in a body. The thing which you should advertise most in United States is something which so far you have not advertised at all, the system of taxation in the farming country of Alberta as compared with the agricultural taxes in United States. Get this circulated and you have immigration literature that will prove effective."

Mr. Nock left for the east this morning. He is running a series of six articles in the American Magazine dealing with municipal taxation. The February article will deal with Pacific Coast conditions and the Edmonton article will probable come in March. The American has a circulation of 460,000 copies and is sold in every city and town in United States Canada and Mexico, while it has an extensive circulation in Great Britain.

ROADS TO PEACE RIVER ARE PRACTICALLY IMPASSABLE

ARE NOT IN FIT CONDITION FOR TRAVEL AND TEAMSTERS ARE FORCED TO UNDERGO MANY HARDSHIPS. ROADHOUSES HAVE TROUBLE SECURING SUPPLIES

"It is nothing short of a crime to send settlers out by the government trail from Edson in the direction of the Peace River country. The road is only cut to a point fourteen miles beyond the Little Smoky river, and it is not in a fit condition for travel even to that point. The road from Medicine Lodge is even worse."

Such was a statement made to the Capital this morning by Mrs. Alex Shaver, who, accompanied by her husband and two daughters, started out on the Edson trail in November last, intending to establish a road house at Little Smoky river. The party left on November 15, taking with them supplies to establish a road house, but owing to difficulties encountered on the road, they did not reach Athabasca crossing until within a couple of weeks of Christmas day. They found the proprietors of the road house at the crossing were themselves short of provisions, and were compelled to return south almost immediately. They came back by the trail to Medicine Lodge, and reached Edmonton yesterday.

"The Medicine Lodge road is up and down hill all the way," said Mrs. Shaver this morning. "It is almost impassable now, but when the spring opens it will be impossible for settlers to make any use of this road, or of the other, as the muskeg will bar their way at every turn. Not until the roads have been fixed up and properly graded will they be of any use. The road from Athabasca crossing to Smith with a couple of weeks of Christmas day. They found the proprietors of the road house at the crossing were themselves short of provisions, and were compelled to return south almost immediately. They came back by the trail to Medicine Lodge, and reached Edmonton yesterday.

"The Medicine Lodge road is up and down hill all the way," said Mrs. Shaver this morning. "It is almost impassable now, but when the spring opens it will be impossible for settlers to make any use of this road, or of the other, as the muskeg will bar their way at every turn. Not until the roads have been fixed up and properly graded will they be of any use. The road from Smith will be a good one eventually, after a lot of additional work has been put into it."

For settlers to leave by the new roads at this time, may mean starvation for themselves and their stock," Mrs. Shaver said. When Mr. and Mrs. Shaver and their family reached the Athabasca crossing they found themselves out of most lines of provisions, and the roadhouse keeper there, a man named Servison, had nothing to sell. He had practically run out himself, but learned the new arrivals were out of his provisions, and had in consequence to go without many things which are considered necessaries. People are cutting grass under the snow to provide feed for their teams.

The Shavers are Americans who have experienced not a little of the hardships of pioneering times in the west, but they are thoroughly disgusted with the conditions they have found existent on the trail Peace-river-wards.

"I never knew what it was to go for a long period on nothing but dry bread," said Mrs. Shaver, "but I got that experience on the trail to the Peace river. "The misrepentation of things here will do much harm to the country which is otherwise one of the best in the world."

"I hear that a large number of English people are expected at Edson soon," she went on, "and that these people are intending to set out for Grande Prairie. It is bad enough for people who have been used to pioneering, and who understand conditions in a new country, but these newcomers will be in a terrible fix if they are allowed to proceed."

"Are you going to hit the Grande Prairie trail again?" queried the Capital man.

"No, I guess we'll go to the Yukon, was the reply. "We were there twelve years before, and I guess we'll go there again. The Peace River road should be all right next winter, and will be a splendid road, but I guess we won't wait till then."

TAMPA'S CELEBRATION

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 13.—Decorated as never before in his history Tampa today began a two weeks' jubilee in celebration of her remarkable increase of 143 per cent. in population during the last decade, as shown by the recent census. Elaborate street pageants, bicycle races, athletic events, floral parades, and a great musical festival are to be among the notable features of the programme. Already there is a large attendance of visitors, including many northern tourists, and it is expected that the attendance will be much larger next week.

DISTRICT COURT.

A case in which unusual interest was manifested was tried at Wabamun Saturday by the district court, J. W. Robinson having an alleged claim against W. C. Dunn for $116.55 for labor performed. Robinson averred he had been employed to open a coal mine. In his answer to the complaint, Mr. Dunn claimed Robinson had come to him penniless and he had taken him in and given him shelter, in return for which plaintiff performed odd jobs, and that he had remained with him for fourteen months, for which defendant declared himself entitled to a counter claim of $200, at the rate of $20 per month for board.

The case was taken under advisement.

NO STREET CAR SIGNS.

Commissioner Boullon announced this morning that there would be nothing doing in street car signs until after the new superintendent comes into office. The need for some system by which the cars on the various routes can be distinguished, was brought up by the present, strike tendement last summer, but as yet no progress has been made, and the utilities commissioner has decided to leave the matter in abeyance for the time being.

REPAIRS TO POWER PLANT COMPLETED

Repairs to the Robb engine at the power plant, whose breakdown in December resulted in a partial disorganization of the street railway service, were completed on Saturday afternoon, giving an additional 600 horse power to the capacity of the plant. The plant is now capable of meeting all the city's needs both in respect to lighting, power and traction, with a good margin in reserve.

In response to a question by the Capital this morning, Commissioner Boullon stated that the service from the corner of Twenty-fourth street and Jasper to the end of construction, south of the E. Y. and P. tracks would immediately be put into force. He had issued instructions to make this addition to the schedule at once.

HAS SETTLERS FOR THIS PROVINCE

International Realty Co., Chicago, Has Big Demand for Alberta Land

"We do not own enough land in Alberta to fill the demands of the settlers we expect to send to your province this year."

That is the manner in which the International Realty company, of Chicago writes the secretary of the board of trade, while telling him of the work that they are doing in the middle states in the way of advertising Alberta.

The International Realty company while exhibiting at the big land show in Chicago last year, purchased from the board of trade their entire exhibit, which was displayed at the International Live Stock show in November.

The International Realty also owns several thousand acres of land in Alberta, and it was for the purpose of advertising this land to prospective settlers that they purchased the exhibit. Now they find that the number of settlers they can procure far exceeds the amount of land that they have at their disposal up here.

The International Realty operate largely around Oshkosh, Wis., and it is partly due to their efforts in advertising Alberta that several excursions of settlers will come from that point this summer.

BUILDERS BEGIN ON MILL CREEK BRIDGE

Foreman States That the Structure Will Be Completed Within Six Weeks

Strathcona, Feb. 13.—The first clang of the bridge builder's hammers will be heard today on the new viaduct across Mill Creek valley on Whyte avenue. Six or sever cars of steel are on hand and enough pier steel is included in this shipment to permit a start being made on a pretentious scale.

The big bridge will be built by the provincial bridge gang and for the past month these men have been on the ground arranging their machinery and preparing for a start immediately after the arrival of the required steel, which came to hand a month overdue. Mr. Fraser, foreman of the bridge crew, when seen by the Capital Saturday stated without hesitation that he expected to finish the viaduct within six weeks barring unforseen accidents. He has prepared to push the work forward with a good rate of progress and if fine weather continuous the steel can be swung into place still more rapidly. Mr. Fraser has had much experience in steel bridge building and has already completed several large contracts for the Alberta government which comprise the steel work for the parliament buildings and the big steel bridge across sthe Bow river at Calgary. When finished in Strathcona he will commence work upon a structure across the Red Deer river.

Mill Creek viaduct which will cost the city $38,000 is the realization of an agitation of years in Strathcona. The deep valley in the east end has been a decided barrier to progress in more ways than one but there was no actual step taken toward bridging the difficulty until the council of '09 and '10 made it their business to get details completed down to the by-law ratification for the building amount. Last fall the concrete pedestals were all put in by the city engineering department and other preliminary work carried out. It was intended to have construction begun with the steel with the first of the new year but the long delay in getting steel from the east made this impossible. The structure will be over four hundred feet in length and the twenty-four foot roadway will be nearly one hundred feet above the creek bed. The west end of the bridge will be placed squarely on Whyte avenue, the east end to touch a few yards to the north.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Magrath-Holgate Co. are erecting a brick addition to their real estate offices on Jasper Ave. A permit for the addition, which will give greatly increased accommodation, was issued by the building inspector this morning, and work will be commenced immediately. The cost will be $1,000, and a contract for the work has been awarded to F. A. Saunders.

A permit was also issued this morning for a frame stable to be erected by H. T. Davis at a cost of $250, on the north side of Short, between Kinistino and Syndicate.

Montreal, Feb. 13.—Acting under the instructions which the city council gave a week ago, the civic law department has sent formal notice to the railway commission at Ottawa asking that Montreal be given better telephone rates. The city's plea contends that the charge for telephones in houses is far too high and is dearer than that in Toronto, that the eBll Company has no right to charge an extra five dollars for what is called an improved machine, that automatic phones be abolished and that a reduction be ordered in the long-distance rates.

ALBERTA.

400,000 Settlers Coming.

Calgary, Feb. 13.—"During the year, 1910, 325,000 immigrants came to Canada. This year, judging from the reports received from the agents in England as well as from agents in the United states, it is no exaggeration to say that Canada in 1911 will receive 400,000 persons."

This was the statement made last night by Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration, in the course of an interview.

Camrose Stock Show.

Camrose, Feb. 13.—That a pure bred stock show will be held in Camrose this spring was decided on at a meeting of the executive of the Camrose Agricultural society on Saturday afternoon. The offer of the Department of Agriculture to defer the expense to $300 on the basis of a percentage of the prize list will be accepted and there is every indication that the full grant will be required to be paid. At no time has the full strength of the live stock industry been shown in the Camrose district but a special effort will be made this spring.

DOMINION.

Five Foreigners Killed.

Vancouver, Feb. 13.—A despatch from Hazelton, B.C., tonight, says five men were killed and two severly injured as the result of a premature explosion at noon today, Sunday, in a small tunnel gap at Kitseksa, B. C.

The men were working at the far end of the tunnel when a box of powder left near the mouth, presumably to thaw out, became over-heated and exploded. The dead men are M. J. Burgess, station man, Charles Quarnstrom, W. E. H. Kova and Eli and John Olazavitch, all four foreigners.

Fire Proves Fatal.

Montreal, Feb. 13.—An over-heated stove pipe caused a fire this morning which had fatal results.

The blaze took place at a boarding house, kept by Jospeh Phillips, aged 70, who, with one of his boarders, Michael McMahon, aged 47, lost their lives. John Quinlan, who, fortunately, had retired, was almost suffocated when he awoke to find the house in flames. The heat was so intense and the smoke so thick that Quinlan made a hurried escape through one of the windows on the stairway, and raised an alarm. Quinlan's face and hands were badly burned.

Siberian Eggs in Toronto.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—"Siberian eggs, broken and then frozen, have been on the Toronto market for a considerable time. Some of these have been sent to Canada by a reputable English firm, which takes back any that are not found in good condition, when opened and melted."

The information was furnished today by Mr. George E. Kent.

Mr. Kent said that Siberian eggs were not to be confused with Chinese eggs. The Russian product was broken and frozen while fresh.

FOREIGN.

Millions to Attend Coronation.

London, Feb. 13.—Since the beginning of the winter, the chief functionaries of the British court have been busily absorbed with preparations for the coronation of George V, which will surpass in pageantry and in historical interest all former ceremonials of the same character. While the ceremony of crowning the King and Queen in Westminster Abbey on June 22 will be almost identical in form with that which has been followed in the investure of British sovereigns since William IV. and Queen Adelaide, the auxiliary functions are expected to exceed anything the nation has witnessed in the past.

Archbishop Ryan.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 13.—The Most Reverend Patrick John Ryan, D. D., LL.D., Archbishop of Philadelphia, and metropolitan of Pennsylvania and one of the greatest archbishops on the American continent passed peacefully into eternity at 4.08 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Arch-episcopal residence adjoining the cathedral in Logan square.

For weeks the distinguished prelate, who would have been 80 years old, had he lived until February 20, fought off death, but a weak heart, enfeebled by the arduous duties of his high official position could not stand the strain and he passed away breathing the benediction, "God bless you," on those about the beside. Shortly before the end came, the stricken metropolitan roused himself and murmured the dying words of St. Paul:

"I wish to be dissolved and be with Christ."

Senate Favors Reciprocity.

Washington, Feb. 13.—A complete poll of the senate taken Saturday afternoon showed 65 members pledged to reciprocity. The House is already safe for the agreement. A complete victory for the measure is therefore assured.

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL ISSUE THEIR STATEMENT

COMPANY MUST CHANGE TRADEMARK

Injunction Against Edmonton Brewing and Malting Company Is Made Permanent

The temporary injunction granted several months ago against the Edmonton Brewing & Malting company to restrain it from using certain labels on its beer bottlers, which were claimed by the Anheuser Busch Brewing association of St. Louis to be an infringement of its labels and to constitute the passing off of defendant's goods as those of plaintiff and a fraud upon the public, was made permanent by the supreme court in an opinion handed down by Justice Charles A. Stuart this morning.

The contention of defendant that the trade mark of the Anheuser Busch association was not registered in Alberta is overruled.

In the opinion of the court, so the findings of Justice Stuart read, the "plaintiffs are in strictness also entitled to an accounting of the profits made by defendants upon all beers sold bearing the label of the complainant." This, however, is not a matter upon which the plaintiff insisted rigidly, the object of the action being primarily to assert its rights as to the use of the label in dispute.

The injunction proceedings have excited much interest throughout the province because of the vast importance attached to it by brewers and tradesmen. To give expert testimony, the Anheuser Busch Brewing association brought to Edmonton one of its expert label designers and he proclaimed the label of the Edmonton Brewing & Malting company to be one of the cleverest imitations on record.

In the course of the court's opinion Justice Stuart says:

"If the words, 'Capital Beer,' had been printed somewhere upon the body label itself so prominently as to catch the eye at once even of a careless tippler, there would, I conceive, have been less ground for complaint, but the word on the neck is too far removed and the printing on the body label is too minute to prevent deception. Persons drinking beer are not in the mood to examine documents, as a rule."

PROVINCE DECIDES TO ENTER APPEAL

Against Judge Beck's Order Including the Great Waterways Railway in Action

Appeal will be made by the provincial government, from the order of Judge Beck joining the Alberta and Great Waterways railway and the Canada West Construction company with the Royal bank as defendants in the action brought by the province in connection with the bond money.

The appeal will probably be heard at the next sitting of the court en banc next month. Should the province win its appeal, it will in all probability be taken to the Supreme court of Canada by the Royal bank solicitors.

This appeal must be disposed of before the writs of summons can be served on the agents of the Alberta and Great Waterways and the Canada West Construction company. Following this, thirty days are given for the companies to file their defenses in court.

DISCUSS POWER PROBLEM.

Immediately on the return to the city of Alderman Mould, a meeting of the commissioners and public works committee, who have been instructed to meet the representatives of the Edmonton Heat and Power company, to discuss the company's application for a contract, and to frame up a suitable agreement, will be called by Mayor Armstrong. The meeting will take place towards the end of the week.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Dr. Mackid, president of the Alberta medical association will meet the members of the Edmonton association at their regular meeting on Wednesday evening. Members of the dental profession will also be present at the meeting where a paper on "The Inspection and Care of School Children's teeth will be read by Dr. Jamieson, the discussion being opened by Drs. Roberts and Whittaker. Other papers will be by Dr. Condell on "Choked Disc?" and by Dr. W. H. Brown on "Mastoid."

OPPOSED TO RECIPROCITY.

New York, Feb. 13.—The Herald's London cable says.

"A score of Canadian business and day attended a private meeting in the House of Commons, called by Imperialists to consider ways and means to prevent the ratification of the recited States and Canada and, if this effort is unsuccessful, to devise a plan

Claim It Was Contractors Who Violated Agreements and Say the Maximum Scale Is Intended as a Deception for the Unwary. No Action Taken Toward a Strike on May 1

Following the declaration of the Contractor's association to the effect that outstanding agreements with local unions, except the bricklayers and masons, would be annulled, and that no new agreements would be made this year, the press committee of the Trades and Labor council has prepared the following statement of the trades council's position:

In view of recent public comment on labor conditions in general, and Edmonton in particular, we, the undersigned press committee of the Building Trades council would deem it a favor to have our statement of the question at issue, made pubic. We assume that the local press has given a correct expression of the position taken by the Builders Exchange, and our criticism is based upon that assumption.

It has been suggested that a committee of citizens be organized for the purpose of averting trouble, and although we do not object to the efforts of such a body, we feel that labor's cause would suffer, should any action be taken based upon the statement made by the Builders Exchange. Excuse our candour if we confess to a suspicion that the Exchange article was in the nature of an appeal to public sentiment. We do not wish to attach any blame to their desire in this; in fact we would like to have some of it ourselves, but would have it based upon a correct knowledge of conditions. Hence the following comparison of Organized Capital versus Organized Labor.

Labor unions are composed of members of the same trade, united for the purpose of mutual help in an effort to improve the general living conditions of the working people, by establishing a minimum wage, shortening the hours of labor, etc., the means commonly used is the strike. A dreaded thing is it not? Yet it is at most a negative force, a refusal on the part of the workers to work under conditions offered by the masters. Conditions being considered improved by this union of individuals, further improvement is sought by a union of unions, and the Building Trades council is the result.

Thus the process seems good to the workers, not only in one town and city but in many; in fact it encircles the globe. Since it is necessary to the success of the strike that the strikers places be not filled by workers from other places a union of Building Trades Councils is accomplished, and is known on this continent as the American Federation of Labor. Each union man who is a party to this threatened conflict can trace his affiliation to each union man in other cities.

Master builders organizations are composed of employers of labor in the same line of business united for the purpose of mutual help, in an effort to improve the general living conditions of the employing class, by establishing the maximum wage, lengthening the hours of labor, etc.; the means commonly used in extremity is the lock-out, a thing dreaded by the workers. Yet it is at best a negative force; a refusal on the part of employers to pay the price or wage for the service offered by the worker. Conditions being somewhat improved by this union of individuals, further improvement is sought by a union of unions and the Builders Exchange is the result. Thus far the process seems good to the employers, not only in one town or city but in many; in fact it, too, encircles the globe. Since it is necessary to the success of the lock-out that the strikers places should be filled by workers from other places, a union of Builders Exchanges is accomplished and is known on this continent as the Manufacturers association. Each union master who is a party to this threatened conflict can trace his affiliation to each union master in other cities.

Now a few words about this threatened local conflict. With a view to brevity let us start with this—what will we call it? Challenge, Defi, Lemon, no, Ruling, that's the word that the Builders Exchange handed to the men. They state to the carpenters that, "Whereas it is the firm conviction of this exchange that the agreement formerly existing between the General Contractors association of this exchange and your union, has been annulled through violations, and further, whereas other unions having declared their determination not to enter any further with the exchange, thereby making said agreement not workable, as instanced during the several strikes of 1910, when members of your union refused to work, the Edmonton Builders Exchange declares in behalf of its affiliated associations for open shop in all building trades except those of the bricklayers and laborers unions, which latter had in their agreement the necessary unsympathetic strike clause.

Here are the facts as we see them, and we might suggest that we have the evidence, and would be glad to submit it in case of necessity. The carpenters agreement has assuredly been violated, but by whom? One charge has been made against a member of the carpenters union, dealt with

PUBLICITY DEPT. WILL BRING ONE EXCURSION PER MONTH

SETTLERS WILL FLOCK TO PROVINCE—TWO CARS OF INVESTORS LEAVE WISCONSIN IN FEW WEEKS, FOR EDMONTON

One excursion per month, of settlers to Alberta from each point, during the coming season, is the record which the provincial publicity department will endeavor to establish, according to the Publicity Commissioner Hotchkiss. If this is accomplished, the prophecy will 400,000 people by the close of the season will be fulfilled that Alberta will have over that number of settlers within her borders, the increased indemnity from the Dominion government. The population at present is estimated at 330,000.

Within the next month of six weeks, several excursions will be heading for Alberta with carloads of settlers and investors. Publicity commissioners of the province in Quebec, Ontario, the central and western states, have all rounded up large parties of settlers, who are ready to start at any time for Alberta to select their future home. Publicity commissioner Hotchkiss is completing the arrangements for now corresponding with a view to bringing these settlers to the province, but the excursions of homeseekers will not be started until some time in April.

The first homeseekers' excursion to leave Eastern Canada this spring, will come to Alberta from Toronto, Ontario, publicity agents at Toronto, has gathered together a large party, and will bring them west with him in April.

Within the next few weeks, a special excursion bringing 25 Wisconsin investors will leave Oshkosh, Wisconsin, and will run direct through to Edmonton. These men all have money, averaging each at least $5,000, and will buy homes upon which they will settle their families later in the season by come from Wisconsin during the son. Several excursions will probably summer.

Other points from which excursions will be run as soon as spring opens up, are Toronto, Montreal, Michigan, and Montana. Down in Montreal, L. H. Mallette has a large party starting to come west, and the same is true of Commissioner Morin in Michigan.

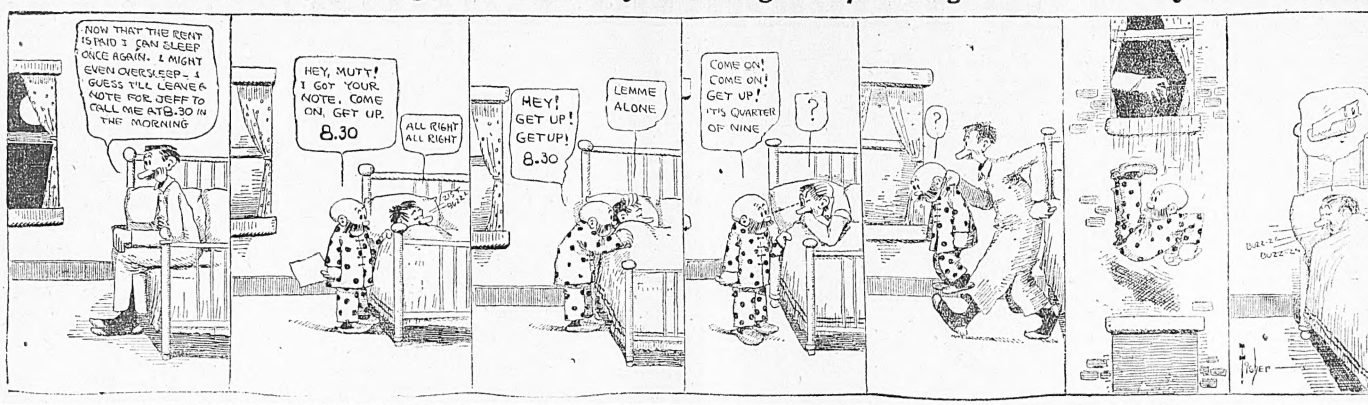

BISOP CHENEY'S UNIQUE RECORD

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 13.—When Bishop Cheney rises to preach from the pulpit of Christ Reformed Episcopal Church tomorrow he will find the altar adorned with seventy-five American beauty roses, a graceful recognition on the part of the congregation of the seventy-five years Bishop Cheney has been pastor of Christ Reformed Episcopal church. He has never filled any other pulpit and the church has never had any other pastor. The record of the Bishop and his church in this respect is believed to be without a parallel among American churchmen not only of the Reformed Episcopal church, but of all other denominations as well.

ILLINOIS Y. M. C. A.

Freeport, Ill., Feb. 13.—Delegations representing the branches of the Young Men's Christian association throughout Illinois met here today for their annual State convention. The gathering is to last four days, closing on Saturday with a farewell service at which addresses will be given by noted speakers from several States. The gathering will have a general theme, "The Conservation of Young Manhood," around which most of the speakers have been instructed to make their remarks. Prominent among those on the programme are Bishop Anderson of Chicago, Dr. J. C. Acheson, president of Caldwell college, and Charles P. Towson and Dr. Charles J. Fisher, both members of the international committee.

MORE SPACE BE ASKED BY KENNEL CLUB

Improvements at Exhibition to be Discussed at Meeting on Wednesday Evening

For the purpose of thoroughly discussing required improvements in the quarters set aside for kennel exhibits at the Edmonton Exhibition and also to talk over a proposed amendment to the constitution, changing the number required for a quorum from nine to five members, a meeting of the Edmonton Kennel Club will be held Wednesday evening in the Council chambers. The call has been sent out to the members by Secretary Y. E. Green and a large attendance is urged as other matters of the utmost importance are to be brought to the attention of the club.

In order that the question of accommodation be thoroughly threshed out and the needed reforms be definitely decided upon, Charles May, president of the Edmonton Kennel Club, as director of the Association of dogs at the Exhibition has invited the club directors to accompany him to the grounds for the purpose of outlining what is desired. It is stated that one of the changes to be asked will be the removal of the poultry quarters from the bench quarters.

"The bench show at the Exhibition this year will be the largest in the history of dogdom in this city," stated President May to the Capital this morning. "Dog fanciers are more numerous in Edmonton and throughout Alberta than ever and what is particularly pleasing is the fact that the breed is of the very highest class. The kennel exhibit this year will be such as to cause admiration and there is ground for the request that the accommodations be enlarged."

The meeting on Wednesday night will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock.

TO DEMAND $1000 DEPOSIT

Teams in the British Columbia Lacrosse Association will be required this year to deposit $1000 as a guarantee that they will live up to the complete schedule for the season. Lacrosse has become such an important business proposition that club directors refuse to take any chances of any of the teams dropping out before the schedule is played out and the $1000 forfeit money will keep them in line for every game and there will be no forfeited contests.

CRY OF "DIRTY OTTAWA" IS SHAMED AT QUEBEC

Old with age and staggering from want of further support, that "Dirty Ottawa" cry, a howl that for years has given athletes from the Capital City an uncalled for reputation received a knockout blow at Quebec several days since when the Ottawa team played Quebec. The players from the former city had no sooner stepped onto the ice than the ery was taken up by a number of over-enthusiastic Quebeckers, and it was not long before they clearly saw the error of their ways, and it was after the game that they keenly felt their shame. Not an Ottawa player visited the timers in the hours's play and when the National Hockey Association's penalty list is handed down following the wind-up meeting of the executive, Ottawa, it is boasted, will be found at the top with the least penalties for the year.

Butchard win three.

EASY FOR TOFIELD SEVEN.

The C. N. R. team of the Mercantile League proved easy for the Silver Seven Hockey stars of Tofield Saturday afternoon, being defeated 13-0. The game was as fast as lightning, Tofield getting its first goal after but half a minute's play. Then followed quick work, fine combinations and accurate shooting.

McKILLOP WINS AGAIN.

McKillops, of Calgary, won from Johnston, of Strathcona, 7-6, in the Blue Ribbon event at the Winnipeg bonspiel Saturday night. In that event, for the first time in the history of the Winnipeg bonspiel, the City vs. All Comers resulted in a draw.

IS BASEBALL SITUATION SHAKEY IN EDMONTON ?

Winnipeg Flirting With Another Proposition and Is Holding Alberta Cities Off in Four-Club League Affair—International Still Possible But Quite Improbable.

Moose Baxter Would Buy Calgary Franchise—White Sorry at Delay

Is there a possibility that Edmonton the coming season will be without baseball?

Sounds harsh and unbelievable, indeed, but such is the true state of affairs right now and the chances are what Edmonters would term an "even money bet and take your choice." All depends on what action Winnipeg takes in the matter and baseball authorities in Edmonton would not be at all surprised to see that city cast in its lot with the league to the south with which it has been flirting since last December.

Winnipeg Turns Him Down

Edmonton and Calgary had strong hopes that the proposed league with Winnipeg and Brandon would be a go. So confident were the magnates of the success of organization of this body that they refused to have anything to do with any proposition tending to bring about the formation of the International. Like good and honest sportsmen, Sam Savage, in Calgary, and Frank Grey, in this city, declared that they were in honor bound to stay with Winnipeg in the four club league deal and would pass up the International although they felt confident it would prove a big winner.

But Winnipeg was not so considerate. Not so you would notice it in a hurry! Sam Savage reached Winnipeg a week ago for Calgary and with the Edmonton party but instead of receiving him with open arms and coming to immediate terms and relieving the baseball situation for all concerned, Winnipeg calmly waved the hand of authority and informed Savage that nothing definite would be decided upon until Tuesday (tomorrow). Winnipeg will first learn whether there is a chance for its southern circuit. If not, then it will find itself compelled to take up the matter with Brandon, Edmonton and Calgary. Briefly, the two Alberta cities are being used merely as pawns in the game of baseball chess by Winnipeg.

International Still Possible

After being given such a vivid illustration of Jndaism, Frank Grey became hot under the collar and rightfully kicked himself for believing that he might get anything like a square deal from the Winnipeg baseball leaders, shown that he would be turned down, excepting in the event that Winnipeg cannot put the deal through. McGrey turned in real earnest to the international and endeavored to ascertain if it were correct that McCloskey had notified a friend over that he had written from Butte to Lucas in Spokane asking whether the head of the Union Association thought it advisable they should visit Alberta. McCloskey realizes that the Union association will not be made a go, and after months of stubborn refusal, is finally coming around to view the situation sensibly. Had he listened to advice given him weeks before he and Lucas launched the Union, the Alberta-Montana International League would be fully organized, a schedule would have been drawn up by this time and all would be in full swing.

Thing Might Fall Through

It is doubtful right now whether the International could be launched for this season. A week ago, words of consent on the part of Edmonton and Calgary would have brought about a meeting of representatives of the Alberta and Montana cities and the chances were extremely bright for the organization of the International. At that time, it was Montana which needed the aid and the teams in this province could have made their demands felt in such a league.

While there is yet a possibility, the chances are extremely slim for the bringing about of the international. Not that the men are lacking to take hold of teams in the proposed circuit, should the present owners of the Calgary team wish to pass up the deal, Moose Baxter, first baseman last year for the Edmonton team in the Western Canada League, would jump at the chance of acquiring the franchise in Calgary. A few days ago, while talking baseball dope, Moose told the writer that he would be able to get hold of all kinds of backing for a club in the International.

Would be a Big Winner

"I know that the International would be a corker and nothing could please me more at this time than if the present owners would make a proposition to me for the sale of the club," declared Baxter. "With a circuit of three clubs in Montana, and three in Alberta, we would have a real league and one that would put up a brand of baseball that would certainly bring out the crowds."

Donavon White, manager of the Edmonton, is depressed ove rthe fact that steps were not taken earlier to bring about the formation of the International.

"Even after Lucas organized the International, a conference could have been held at which the matter would have been discussed and everybody could have been home to see that the International was the best thing that could have happened for this section," said Mr. White today. "I hope that it is not too late and that a meeting can be arranged and the deal closed."

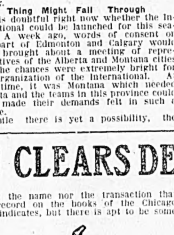

CATOUTOFBAG! CLEARS DEEP MYSTERY!

The cat is out of the bag at last and his jumps reveals to the sporting world the identity of the star flinger of the Winnipeg team in the Western Canada League for the last two years. It reveals in true light a young man who cavorted on a baseball diamond in the west during the summer months and who during the winter spent his hours of the day deep in study at one of Toronto's leading institutions of learning and his nights attending high social functions in the recherchest of recherche sets. The little cat hops from its bag and informs a mystified populace that Jim Collins, not related to John, of "good warming," celebrity), baseball pitcher who acquired popularity even though he also acquired defeat in his efforts, is no less a personage than Logan Cunningham, the star athlete of the Prince Rupert hockey team, as famous also on the football gridiron as he was in the arena of baseball.

Chicago Reveals Identity

A Chicago newspaper was responsible for making known the identity of Collins. Here is what this exchange said:

"On the list of the Chicago American league club, under the heading of "drafts," appears the name of Collins, from Seattle. Scouting would disclose the fact that this individual is a pitcher and was secured by the White Sox from the Pacific club of the Western Canada league. Now there is nothing particularly strange about the name nor the transaction that the record on the books of the Chicago club indicates, but there is apt to be some genuine surprise when it becomes known that J. Collins, none other than Logan Cunningham, the hero of many of Prince Rupert's football battles, is one of the Tigers' mainstay on the pitchers' slab. None of his legion of friends in Washington has suspected that Cunningham had joined the ranks of the professionals. True, they received picture postcards last summer postmarked "Winnipeg" but it was supposed that he was spending his vacation in Canada.

Comiskey's Attention Aroused

"But Logan was busy. Just about that time establishing a baseball record. He was the star twirler of the Winnipeg team, winning eleven out of thirteen games pitched and hitting over the .270 mark. So good was his work that it attracted the attention of one of Comiskey's scouts with the result that he was drafted, and will make the training trip with the Sox this spring. Cunningham signed his contract with Comiskey and is now a full-fledged professional. Incidentally he may became a star with the Sox, for he looks about as promising as any of Comiskey's young pitchers, and in his college days was a clever all-round player and hitter. Cunningham graduated from the Central high school, Washington and was one of the best athletes ever developed by that school. He later became a star football player and pitcher for Princeton, where he is believed to be still attending school.

SPORTING COMMENT ON LIVE NEWS

The statement by Moose Baxter that he would fairly leap at the opportunity if it were given him of buying the Calgary franchise simply goes to prove that baseball franchises in this country are fast coming to be worth money and that it will not be be many years before the game is placed on a self-sustaining basis. With population increasing by leaps and bounds in Alberta and Montana, attendance at games will naturally climb and it will not be long before enterprising men will be freed from being called upon year after year to make up club deficits. A. J. Reed, who is in Great Falls to organize a team in that city, gave an instance of the wonderful strides made by the game. Eight years ago, the Mobile franchise in the Southern league, was given away after it had gone shrieking for weeks. The lucky owner made thousands of dollars from gate receipts, made more thousands by the sale of players and only last November is said to have refused more than $100,000 for his holdings. Baxter is wise to the fact that there are dollars, and many of them in the game, and he wants to get hold of some of them.

LICENSED BOXING IS WHAT IS NOW NEEDED

There should be indignation among Calgary sportsmen over being turned down in their efforts to have licensed boxing in that municipality. Everything possible was done to ensure against bad breaks in the desired bylaw, all that was wanted being authority to conduct boxing shows along sane lines, with all semblance of brutality eliminated. But a handful of men, who have never witnessed a clean boxing show and would be prone to crying out "murder" because they would see a drop of blood, were again the ones who waged battle against the deal, and as in most instances of this kind, succeeded in killing the affair. There would seem to be no reason why men who enjoy the boxing game as a sport should be deprived of a favorite pastime. Those who like them go and have their fun and those who don ot care for it stay at home. There is nothing to drag people to these affairs unless they want to go. All boxers may not be gentlemen, but maybe there are more gentlemen among them as a class than can be found with a fine comb among these same agitators.

HANDS OUT A STRONG TIP TO BOXING MEN

Just by way of a neck little reform for the boxing enterprises as they are now conducted, the New York Press has compiled something worth while. Here it is:

"Just a word to the industrious press agents of boxers and clubs whose incubrations encompass the desk of the sporting editor. Try to make your proclamations rational and believable.

"Do not say that your boy is the undisputed champion of the wiggle-weight class' when you know he has no more claim to the title than a bitching post has.

"Don't say your boy has trained faithfully and is in the 'pink of condition' when you know his sole preparation for the contest was a clean shave and a beef stew.

"Don't say your 'champ' is expected to win on a knockout punch when you know he can't hit hard enough to depress the surface of a pound of butter.

"Don't say you are eager to bet $1,000 on the chances of your boxer when you know that you would not risk a nickel on the proposition that the sun shines when it is not cloudy.

"Don't say that all the other boxers are afraid of your warrior when you know he has 'run out' of several matches.

"Don't put all these obvious misstatements into your press notices, because it burdens the busy but patient sporting editor with the task of running a blue pencil through them."

CALGARY TURNS DOWN THE FIGHTING SPORT

Calgary is not to have licensed boxing for some time to come.

Although strong efforts were made by a large number of citizens, including scores of professional men, such futile opposition was brought to bear that the city council thought it best to turn down the proposition for the present. It may be revived, but the chances are said to be slim of its going through.

Alderman Brocklebank championed the cause for a fighting measure in Calgary and he had a by-law framed that was considered beyond criticism. It called for the regulation of the boxing game by the city authorities and it was generally believed that there was nothing objectionable to be found in it, but such a vigorous campaign was waged against the measure that it failed by a couple of votes of going through. This action was a great disappointment to those who had arranged to conduct the shows as they were confident of success.

PROVIDE MORE SPACE FOR EXHIBIT OF DOGS

Charles May, president of the Edmonton Kennel Club and chairman of the kennel department of the Edmonton Exhibition, is deserving of felicitations in his announced determination to give his support to the club to have the bench quarters enlarged this year and to have the poultry exhibit given new quarters so that there may be more accommodation for the dogs. Edmonton wants to have the choicest dogs brought here for show this year. Scores of grand animals have been acquired by fanciers throughout the province and the public is desirous of seeing these blue-blooded ones of the canine family. Mr. May has promised his untiring co-operation and this would seem an assurance that what ever may be desired will surely be forthcoming.

ST. MICHAEL NOW ANGERED BY DECISION

Will Give Winnipeg Challengers Chance to Gain the Allan Trophy This Year

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 12.—The O. H. A. sub-committee positively refuse to allow the St. Michael Hockey team, the champions of last year, to play for the Allan Cup on the dates mentioned by the trustees. The St. Michael's say that the Winnipeg Victorias, the challengers, can have all the games they want after March 4 when the O. H. A. champions of the year are declared. They feel that the cup trustees have acted very arbitrarily and beyond their jurisdiction, according to the terms of the deed of gift, which call for the meeting of the champions of the current year only.

The one regret they have is that they did not ship the cup back as they contemplated doing immediately after winning it last spring.

SOME CRACK SCORES

Many fine scores were made at the Olympic alleys Saturday. Bill Matthews getting an average of 201 for ten games; W. Blackett getting an average of 206 for six games; Serase getting 192 for six games and Grant having 190 for six games. The scores:

Matthews—189, 235, 189, 198, 188, 193, 216, 212, 198, 185. Total, 2014.
Blackett—186, 213, 200, 212, 207, 220. Total, 1238.
Serase—184, 200, 180, 191, 206, 197. Total 1158.

CALL FOR BOWLERS

For the purpose of selecting players for the two men's team for the Spokane Bowling Congress, a call has been issued by the Olympic bowling alleys for those players:

Simonton, Knott, Blackett, Matthews, Schmitz, Morriss, Gosnell, Birt, Grant, Serase, Pirie, Smith, Gifford, West and Moody.

BIG BASKETBALL GAME

A game that is being looked forward to with keen pleasure by basketball enthusiasts is that scheduled for next Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. between the Varsity and the Normals. The Marts by the Varsity would tie these teams for first place so that the game should be hard fought and well worth witnessing.

TO INVESTIGATE LEAGUE

Alleging that the Prince Albert team is professional and that its members were paid various salaries, the total amounting to $1200 a month, it is stated in Toronto that an investigation of the club will be made before any consideration is to be given to its challenge for the Sir Montague Allan hockey trophy.

THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION

IMPROVEMENTS NOW UNDER WAY AT EDMONTON PENITENTIARY, WHEN COMPLETED, WILL MAKE PRISON ONE OF THE MOST UP-TO-DATE ON CONTINENT—HISTORY OF INSTITUTION—THE PAROLE SYSTEM

A self-contained community is the Alberta Penitentiary. It has but little communication with the outside world, and when it does have intercourse therewith it is mostly with the department of justice at Ottawa. The only time anything goes in there to stay is when a prisoner is received or some raw material brought in for the use of the convicts already there.

Everything used by the convicts or in the building of the penitentiary is manufactured by the prisoners. There is within the walls factories for the manufacture of all articles of clothing for both guards and convicts, for the making of brick and cement and all the other materials used in the erection of the building.

It may seem pitiful and cruel to have prisoners building their own prison but when one makes a tour of the yards and building under the guidance of Warden McCauley the convicts appear quiet and contented working as they do at occupations which are to a certain extent interesting.

The penitentiary building itself is a massive brick and cement structure some 80 by 400 feet. Surrounding it is a yard several hundred yards square and to the south east is a farm of some 129 acres, which is farmed by the prisoners under the direction of efficient instructors.

The penitentiary building is not completed nor is it expected that it will be finished for some time.

The first building for prison purposes on the penitentiary farm was erected fifteen years ago. It was a small brick building and is at the present time used as a kitchen, chaple and temporary cell block. Since that time there has been built a large steel and concrete structure more than 350 feet long and about 100 feet wide, with provision for additions from time to time as they may be required with a total housing capacity of about 900 convicts when the building will have been completed. There are at the present time 210 cells, and occupying them there are 190 convicts.

This gigantic structure was not all built at one time but each year there has been added some portion of the building.

Jail Erected in 1903.

The oldest portion of the present building was erected in 1903 as a jail. In 1906 it was taken over by the Dominion Department of Justice and converted into a penitentiary. In 1907 an addition was made to the rear. This is now being used as a bake room and women's quarters. In 1908 another large addition was made. When the building is completed this addition will be the central hall from which all portions of the penitentiary may be seen. It is now used as a kitchen, chapel, carpenter shop and hall. In 1910 the largest addition yet planned was started. It is the rear wing 186 feet long and three stories high, containing in all 216 cells. The walls of this portion are already completed and work on the cells will start within a few days.

When this wing is completed the temporary wall between it and the central hall will be taken away, so that a clear view right from front to rear of the building along the corridor will be obtained. When the other two wings to the north and south are completed there will be uninterrupted corridors the full length and width of the building, making it possible for one guard on each floor to see all the cells at once.

Not only is the building admirably planned for penitentiary purposes but it is being erected exclusively by convict labor. The bricks in the building are made right in the penitentiary yard, the cement blocks are manufactured by the prisoners, the wiring and heating apparatus are all installed by the same kind of labor and a man does not have to hold a union card to work there.

The coal and sand are taken from their confines in the soil by the convicts, hauled up the steep hill from the river bank, where the coal mine and sand bank are located, on a private railroad built by the men, and deposited in the prison yard where they are used by the various craftsmen who are employed in the erecting of the building.

Various Industsries.

There is on the grounds a machine shop, a shoe factory, a bakery, a tinsmith shop, a blacksmith shop, an electrician's shop, a tailor shop, a brick yard, a factory for making cement blocks, a barber shop, and a general store.

In the shoe factory are made all the footwear required by both the prisoners and the guards; in the tailor shop the suits of everyone within the doors is made; in the bakery the food of the community within the wall is baked; in the blacksmith shop is turned much of the steel work required for the building; the tinsmith and electricians put all the fittings in the pen and the other factories provide for all the wants of the establishment. When any of the departments want anything from the general store they put in a requisition and it is provided if the Warden considers that they are justified in having it.

Surrounding the penitentiary yards is a farm of 129 acres which is farmed by the convicts under the direction of an agricultural instructor. On the farm is produced all the vegetables used in the pen. The only things imported are some of the raw materials used in the building, and certain food stuffs which cannot be made with the apparatus installed there.

It is a self-contained community.

The Alberta penitentiary is the only institution for the retention of convicts west of Kingston, Ontario, that provides for women criminals. There are at present four female convicts incarcerated within its walls, and proper provision is made for their accommodation. They have one section of the building for their exclusive use. In it is a bakery, sleeping apartments, gymnasium and chapel.

The penitentiary building itself is surrounded by a yard about 200 yards square enclosed by a high board fence on which night and day armed guards keep watch. There are three guard boxes. One in the centre of the north wall, and one on each of the east and west walls. From these positions the entire yard may be viewed.

The Prison Yard.

In the roomy yard the occupations of the convicts are carried on. In the south end there is a cement mixer, to the east the cement block factory and brick kiln, in the centre, to the south of the building are the tin and electrician shops, and in the north east corner is the kitchen and a workshop in the old building, part of which is used as a temporary cell block.

The life of a prisoner within the Edmonton Penitentiary while one of confinement, is not one of punishment, but of correction. When a convict enters the pen he is started at some work which he must follow until he is released. If he is a short term man or one who is not considered dangerous he is put to work on the farm. Longer term men work in the yard making bricks and cement blocks and building the cells in the new wing. The worst criminals have to work within the building.

Young men who are received for terms of five years or more are set to work to learn a trade. They may be assigned to the electricians' shop and there become expert wire men, or to the shoemakers' department and learn the art of making shoes or to the various other occupations which are carried on under the direction of an experienced instructor.

In Line for Promotion.

When he has been there for some time and knows his trade if his conduct has been good he may be appointed assistant instructor, and help to teach the other convicts. When his term is up or when he has been released he has a trade by which he may earn a living.

There are eight instructors whose whole tmie is spent at the penitentiary teaching the convicts. The following trades are taught: Tailor, shoemaker, engineer, plumber, mason, and brickmaker, and there is an industrial keeper who looks after the farm work exclusively.

The record of crimes for which the convicts are retained at the pen is not very formidable. Of the 186 men there is no one confined for murder. There are four life sentences for manslaughter and one 20-year man, also for manslaughter. There are two ten-yearers and several five and seven-year term convicts, but the great majority are confined for thieving on two and three-year sentences.

All the male prisoners are from Alberta and Saskatchewan and some from Manitoba. The female convicts come from all four of the Western Provinces, from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast. Some of the prisoners have come all the way from Fort Francis on the boundary line between Ontario and Manitoba.

The penitentiary was opened in August, 1906, with the arrival from Manitoba of 24 convicts. They were taken in charge by the penitentiary authorities immediately upon their arrival and from time to time others were added until by the end of that year there was a total of 53 convicts confined at the new penitentiary.

Number of Convicts.

The number of prisoners at the end of each year since the prison was opened is as follows:

Year	Male	Female
1906.....	52....	0
1907.....	73....	3
1908.....	87....	3
1909.....	128....	3
1910.....	183....	3
1911, Feb. 10.	190....	4

In all there have been 371 convicts confined in the prison. Of these 179 have completed their sentence and have been released or let out on parole and two have escaped, successfully eluding all efforts of the police to capture them.

Of the 179 prisoners who have been released there are about 150 out on parole. The parole system as used in the Edmonton Penitentiary is perhaps in its most perfected form. When a convict has been confined for 6 months he begins to earn time. That is to say for every month after the first six months of his confinement, providing his conduct is good, there are six days taken off his sentence. When he has earned 72 days' rebate his earning power has increased to ten days a month.

The Parole System.

When half of a prisoner's term is up he may apply to the Minister of Justice for parole or release. If his conduct has been good he will be allowed to leave the jail. But after his release he must report to the police or to the sheriff every month during which he is under sentence. If during that time he has failed to live according to the law or gives the police reason to think that he is not living according to the law he may be sent back to the penitentiary. If when out on parole he makes good he may be pardoned.

About 150 convicts have been released from the Edmonton Penitentiary. Most of these are living in Edmonton working honestly for a living and nearly all of them are making good.

Despite the smooth manner in which affairs at the penitentiary have been running for the past six months or a year the life of the warden and guards has not always been a smooth one. The recollection of the outbreak of convicts last spring is still fresh in their minds, and although there is no danger of a similar rebellion occurring at the present time they must be always vigilant.

Only two sucessful escapes have been made from the walls of the penitentiary. That was the occasion when the negro and his companion evaded the guards and made good their escape over the Clover Bar bridge and thence to the south.

Warden McCauley has in his possession many relics of the outbreak and the attempts made by convicts to escape. Saws and files that were used to cut the bars of their cells and other implements that were evidently intended as weapons.

In this country more than one hundred workmen are killed every day. The number of killed and maimed is 536,000 annually, and the annual number of acidents of all kinds to workmen is two million.

Out of some three hundred and fifty-eight trades recorded in the United States there are only five or six left in which women are not employed; for instance, linemen, sailors, excavators and a few similar occupations.

The law of England requires the employer of every workman injured in his service to pay immediately the injured man one-half of his rate of wages until he is able to work again, and in the case of death to pay to the heirs three years' salary.

The provision of the Rhode Island factory inspection law, which prohibits children under sixteen years of age working in factories, manufacturing or business establishments, unless they can read at sight, and write legibly simple sentences in English, went into effect January 1.

The order of Railroad Telegraphers will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary in June, 1911, and has adopted as a battle cry, "Complete and thorough organization." Cash prizes to the amount of more than $2,000 will be given away during the year to those who assist in bringing in new members.

The shortest hours of any union workmen in New York city are those of the caisson workers who have just signed an agreement with the employers' association for the year 1911. Three hours a day, with thirty minutes off for luncheon and wages of $5 a day is the stipulation for the men who work under an air pressure of three atmospheres.

New superintendents having been appointed to fill the positions at the power house and on the street railway, there is danger that the investigation regarding the incidents surrounding their discharge may be allowed to drop.

INVESTIGATION SHOULD BE CARRIED ON

Since the heads of the street railway and power house were discharged, another head of department the chief of police, has sent in his resignation, making the fifth head of department since the new year who has left the city's employ or has been thrown out by the commissioners.

It is obviously impossible that all these men could be inefficient; the fact that the administration of the city has been carried out in detail very competently proving their competency.

It is unbelievable that a notion to leave the city's employ should suddenly and simultaneously strike a whole lot of civic employees without a reason.

To drop the investigation now would be equivalent to an expression by the aldermen to the effect that they take no interest in the civic service and do not care if the departmental heads all quit.

The city's best asset is the enthusiasm of its employees, and this enthusiasm is certain to be strangled—if it has not been already—by a system which implies that the city cares nothing about its employees.

The city cannot afford to allow the investigation which is now in the hands of the council committee to drop. If the utility commissioner is right in his differences with the heads of departments, it is important that the investigating committee should assure the public as soon as possible that such is the case. If the utility commissioner is not right it is important in the interests of the esprit de corps that the city find a new commissioner who has the ability to carry authority without offence to everyone who comes within the radius of his circle.

It is worthy of note that in the statement handed to the press by the building trades council they say that no move has been made either by the building trades council or any union affiliated therewith toward a strike on the first of May.

LABOR SHOWS DISPOSITION TO CONCILIATE

It is the evident intention of the unions not to act precipitately in the matter and it is to be hoped that it will be possible to find a solution which will avert a tie-up.

At least one thing is reassuring—that the unions do not intend to rush into a fight as long as there is a possibility of getting away from it.

If the contractor's association will show the same desire for peace that the labor unions are showing, there is still a chance that the building season of 1911 may go through without a tie-up.

It is a dull day in Edmonton when there is not some announcement of some large development planned for the coming summer.

EDMONTON ON THE EDGE OF HER GREATNESS

The announcement that within the present year the Canadian Northern will have its steel laid to within one hundred miles of the Yellowhead Pass, while it is no surprise, is one of the greatest importance to the city.

It is true that for many miles the Canadian Northern parallels the Grand Trunk Pacific, and the increased business from this section may not be very large, but in the particular section through which the C. N. R. will extend its lines during the coming summer there is a considerable distance between the two roads, and the C. N. R. has the advantage over the G. T. P. in the prairie section between Edmonton and the mountains that it is to be built through a much better farming country.

The increased business which will result to the city through this large piece of construction is also a factor which will do much to make a very prosperous summer.

With the roads which it is now certain will be built this year to the north and west of the city, Edmonton will come into her own as the commercial centre of a district in which she has no rivals, a district in which the trade is all her own.

Edmonton today is just on the edge of her greatness. The year of 1911 is the year which will mark the new departure, the development of a country which will make this city a great metropolis.

JUST PARAGRAPHS

This is an age in which wonders never cease. Sleepy old Victoria wakened up the other day and took the taxes off improvements. The theory that Victorians do nothing else besides go to lunch and dally around the club is thereby ousted from the superstitions of the day.

The Toronto Telegram avers that the way to get Dr. Beattie Nesbitt back to Toronto is to offer him a nomination. Not if the Doc. knows it. He could take the money he got out of the Farmers' Bank and elect himself bungo tungo of any republic in Central America.

Now that home rule is within plain sight it is being pointed out that Ireland has for many years been drawing more from the treasury of the empire than she pays in. When Patrick Henry said: "Give me liberty or give me death"—(and he got them both)—he was counted a hero, but consider the heroism of an Irish legislator who would tell his constituents that they must forego an appropriations for the Donnybrook fair in the cause of liberty.

The political economists who figure that the production of gold is the cause of the high cost of living will be pleased to learn that the output of last year was only 431 millions against 454 millions the year before. To the ordinary citizen the per capita difference will probably amount to one more sniff of gasoline as the prosperity car rolls by.

AS McCONNELL SEES IT

(Saturday Sunset)

What is to be the outcome of the Chinese Investigation Commission? This is the question asked a hundred times a day on the streets, in the stores, the clubs and other places wheer men foregather.

I have purposely refrained from commenting upon the investigation until enough had come out to give some tangible basis upon which to express an opinion. I think it is now pretty well understood that back of the investigation there is a tangle of mixed motives which prompted it. I am not of the opinion, nor is any other man who has followed it, that the investigation was ordered purely in the interests of the exchequer, which it was believed had been defrauded. It is well understood that back of this investigation is an attempt to discredit certain prominent Liberals in this city. That much seems certain. T. R. E. McInnes has admitted on the stand that he had a "secret motive" for the part he has played.

Then what of the men behind McInnes? It has been shown that Hon. Frank Oliver is the man who has pulled the strings. True, Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself has been behind the scenes but it is easily conceivable that the matter was presented to him merely as a matter of fraud upon the customs.

To him no hint was conveyed that those active in the bringing about of the investigation intended to fasten suspicions of graft and collusion upon the Liberal executive in Vancouver. Hon. Frank Oliver is known to be not overly friendly to Hon. William Templeman and it is Templeman's friends whom apparently an effort is being made to enmesh in a maze of graft. So far not a tiede of evidence has been offered to show that the Liberal executive either as a body or by its members have been in on any graft or that they were even aware of irregularities in the customs with reference to Chinese immigration. It is true that Joe Martin got off a lot of hearsay about graft, but his evidence can only be regarded as splenetic piffle. His nervy attempt to use the commission as a stumping ground in which to make a political tirade was indecent and disrespectful to the commission. Evidently Martin no longer takes this city or province seriously when he so lightly regards the decorum of a tribunal which in all respects is equal in importance to a sitting of the Supreme Court.

If there have been irregularities in the admission of passport "merchants" the evidence so far has not indicated either the knowledge, connivance or consent of anyone outside of the customs service. My guess is that a considerable number of scalp-hunters from down Ottawa way and in Vancouver are going to be disappointed as a result of this investigation.

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL ISSUES STATEMENT

by the union, and the decision forwarded to the General Contractors association, there has been no objection offered to said decision up to date.

We are aware of many violations of the agreement on the part of the employers, one of which we will offer as an instance. In the early days of the agreement a change was made by the unions against a member of the General Contractors association. The association agreed to take action, and report decision to carpenters agent. They have not done so up to date.

These violations however, are not alluded to by the exchange in its published statements. Their objections are to the refusal of the men to work during the strike of other unions in 1910. Now let us look at the agreement signed by the Exchange in 1909. (Clause 8, Carpenters agreement,) "The refusal of members of said union to work, by reason of disputes of other trades, shall not annul this agreement."

The truth of the statement that other unions declared their determination not to enter into any further agreements with the Exchange, is refuted by the fact that every union whose agreemtn ended on or about May 1st, 1911, presented another proposition of agreement, within the necessary time limit. The "Bulletin" handed to the press is the only answer to our proposition. We did not expect these deliberate misrepresentations but we did expect that any statements made to the press by the Exchange, to be couched in terms calculated to convey a false impression to the public mind. A close analysis of the proposed "Maximum" scale, will demonstrate one instance. This "Maximum" idea is a new one, and very much to the purpose. It has even deceived many union men, and even the "Bulletin" was so far influenced as to use the following as a heading to one of its comments on the situation, "The scale of wages aproved shows increases over last year." As a matter of fact the "Maximum" means that the Builders Exchange have set a wage, above which its members are bound not to pay, just as our "Minimum" is a wage below which our members are bound not to work. With this idea of the "Maximum" in view, the public will not be deceived by the statement that "The Scale of wages approved shows increases over last year. To avoid prolonged explanations the "Public" is requested to paste this in its hat.

In conclusion let us affirm that neither the Building Trades oCuncil, or any union affiliated with it, has taken action tending toward a strike, on May 1st next; published statements to the contrary notwithstanding.

Signed on behalf of the Press Committee. JAMES WILSON.

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying and a life-lasting annoyance.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our rick.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy. They are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness or other undesirable effects. They have a very natural action upon the glands and organs with which they come in contact, act as a positive and regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel and its dry mucous lining; remove irritation, overcome weakness, tone and strengthen the nerves and muscles, and restore the bowels and associate organs to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies completely relieve constipation, except when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Two sizes of packages, 10 cents and 25 cents. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Edmonton only at our store,—The Rexall Store. A. Archibald.

Radium Beneficial.

London, Feb. 1.—Good news comes from Australia for those who pi ntheir faith to the efficacy of the radium treatment in cases of spinal diseases, gout, rheumatism, neuralgia and the like. As soon as medical experts agree that the benefits derived from many water cures were due to radium emanations, the idea was conceived to substitute artificial radium preparations for expensive and protracted cures, and thus bring them within the reach of all purses.

FLOODS DO FIVE MILLION DAMAGE

Water in Ohio River Still Rising Though Cold Has Checked Rise in Others

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 9.—Damage estimated at close to five millions has already been caused by the flood in the Ohio Valley and the water was still rising to-day.

The crest is expected to reach 37 feet. The business section is under water, and the merchants are moving to the second floors. Railroad traffic is badly hampered, trestles have been swept away, large sections of tracks destroyed. Conditions are especially bad at Morgantown and Clarksburg.

At some points the train service is entirely discontinued. Many houses have been swept away, but so, far as is known no lives have been lost.

Cold Checks Floods.

Pittsburg, Ja., Feb. 9 (Special)—Hundreds of residents of the low lands about Pittsburg were taken from their homes to higher ground to-day on rafts or in rowboats to escape the ravages of the floods that have inundated the valley towns.

Immense damage has been done by the waters along the Alleghany, Monongahela and Ohio rivers,but the weather bureau officials stated that the crisis had been reached shortly after 3 o'clock this morning,when the water reached a height of 26 feet or four feet above the danger line.

The cold wave that arrived yesterday averted one of the most disastrous floods on record. Many of the smaller streams are frozen over. All points above Charleroi on the Monongahela river reported that the river was slowly falling.

On the north side the usual flood precautions were taken by the police and families living in the flood districts, moved into the second stories of their homes.

Exposition Park was flooded and at the same time the water reached the Pittsburg and Western tracks of the B. & O. Railway necessitating the division of traffic. Policemen in boats are patrolling the flooded sections,and officers will take care of those who are marooned in the upper floors of their homes, seeing that they are supplied with provisions and other necessaries.

Along the Monongahela wharves on the opposite bank of the river towboats with a fall head of steam up, lay close to the shore ready to render any assistance, should any of the barges or coal boats be torn loose from their moorings.

Optimistic Sellers and Conservative Buyers Brought Together

In our office we have solved the problem whereby the Seller of Real Estate Meets the Buyer.

This is brought about by Square Dealing for in order to do a large business we must advise the seller of the price we wish our clients to pay and under No Circumstances will we allow our buyers to purchase property the value of which has been inflated.

It is our desire to impress upon the minds of the public, who, no doubt, in a great many instances are not thoroughly posted as to values, that we will not allow any deal to be put through our office that is the least bit shady in any way. In this way and this only do we purpose building the largest Financial Business in the city of Edmonton.

We ask you as a seller to list your property with us.

We ask you as a buyer to look into our propositions.

VICTORY FOR OTTAWA.

For the ninth straight time this season, Ottawa was credited with victory, this the Wanderers, the old rivals of the Capital City lads, being taken into tow. The Wanderers had a chance to win out up to the third period, but at this point Ottawa bracked up and treated the spectators to a pretty exhibition of the brand of hockey that has placed the team at the head of the National Hockey association and made Ottawa the prospective holder of the Stanley Cup. The final score was 9 to 4.

"Socks" Seybold vows that the pitcher he has sent Connie Mack (Herman Werner) will rank with Bender, Coombs and Plank as a reliable.

Manager Hal Chase believes that Pitcher Revelle, the Virginia League star, owns the stuff that will make him a regular with the Highlanders.

John Gonding has signed for his eleventh season with the Omaha club. Playing with the same team for ten years without a break is a record in the minor leagues.

Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburg club, has been awarded patents for a canvass cover for baseball diamonds, and for a property trunk to be used by baseball clubs when travelling.

"Old Roman" Comiskey proposes that the American League give Ban Johnson one-ninth of its profits instead of a salary. Charley Murphy please write.

If the White Sox finish better than fourth the coming season, the Commercial club of Mineral Wells, Tex., will present each member of the team with a genuine Texas burr.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Mme.Nazimova is to make a tour through Texas.

Paris has a musical version of "Don Quixote," with music by Massenet.

William Collier will remain in New York for the remainder of the season.

Dave Lewis, the German comedian, is playing in a piece called "Don't Lie to Your Wife."

One of the new plays to be produced in New York is "Shadows," by Arthur J. Eddy, author of "The Great John Ganton."

J. M. Barrie has written a new play for Maude Adams, called "Youth," in which she will probably appear in London.

Frank McIntyre, the genial hero of "The Travelling Salesman," is to appear later in the season in "The Snobs," by George Bronson Howard.

Wilson Mizner, one of the authors of "The Deep Purple," will write a play entitled "Gordon Laycock, Killer," in which Emmett Corrigan will star.

Margaret Mayo and her husband, Edgar Selwyn, are to go to London to supervise the production in the English capital of the former's play, "Baby Mine."

Stuart Robson, Jr., has a prominent part in the cast of "Maggie Pepper," Miss Rose Stahl's new play from the pen of Charles Klein which she is presenting this week in Toronto.

It is said that the new Theatre will soon confer another gold medal, the prospective recipient being Miss Ada Rehan. Thus far only Dr. Furness and Miss Terry have been so honored.

Sme. Fritzi Scheff has begun rehearsals of "Rosita," a new operatta for which Victor Herbert has written the music and Miss Katherine Stewart and Joseph Herbert the libretto. The scenes are laid in Paris.

In the spring Mr. Faversham will appear in London, where he began his career years ago, but where he has not acted since he was a lad. He will appear there in "The Faun," in which he is now playing in New York.

SPRINTERS TO MEET.

The Englishmen in South Africa are talking about matching R. E. Walker, the ex-amateur champion sprinter, and J. Donaldson, the 100-yard champion of South Africa, for a return match. Donaldson recently beat Walker, the latter stumbling just as they passed the sixty-yard line, Walker was not badly injured.

Walker left England on October 1, and it was unfortunate that the stumble mentioned should have marred his first race as a professional.

Donaldson during his recent stay in England failed to place a victory to his credit. He has, however, beaten the best in the world on the other side, and holds records of speed which few could believe until they saw him. One hundred yards in 9 3-8 seconds and 120 yards in 11 1-5 seconds have been credited to him in South Africa.

Arriving in England from South Africa on June 11 last, he ran against C. E. Holway for a match in the 120 yards championship at Taff Vale park, Pontypridd, on August 1. Holway beat him with the watch showing the moderate time of 13 1-2 seconds. Donaldson also competed from the scratch mark in the Pontifadd 130-yard handicap on August 27. He won his heat in 12 3-5 seconds—which, by the way, is equal to the best time shown by Walker over the same distance—but an old strain prevented Donaldson from competing farther in the handicap.

Walker is credited with beating Stevens in South Africa before the Olympic games. He was not on the original selection, but, being sent over by Natal, he created the great sensation of the London games in 1908, by winning the 100 metres race in 10 1-2 seconds, beating A. A. Rector, the American marvel, and R. Kerr, who had secured the A. A. A. 100 and 250 yards championships.

Returning to South Africa he put up several world's records, notably 75 yards in 7 1-5 seconds, 100 yards in 9 3-5 secs. (not passed, as there was a slight incline), 120 yards in 11 2-5 seconds, 130 yards in 12 3-5 seconds, 150 yards in 14½ seconds, and 180 yards in 17 4-5 seconds. He won the A. A. A. 100 yards championship in 1909, beating Carnuli, but, wintering in England, was none too well this year, and was beaten in the championship by F. L. Ramsdell.

DENVER AFTER PLAYERS

Martin O'Toole, pitcher and Outfielder Myers, two of the best players on the championship Sioux City team of last year, are being sought by President James C. Gill of the Denver club. Negotiations for their purchase are now in progress, but it probably be several weeks before anything definite is learned. If by any chance the players can be added to the 1911 Grizzly roster, incalculable strength will come to that team and almost ensure Denver of the Western League pennant. It was these two men, more than any other pair in the league that robbed the colors of the 1910 flag. O'Toole pitched the best ball against the Denver aggregation and his winning of two games in the crucial series here toward the end of the season settled the question. Myers batted over .300 throughout the season and his hitting was a feature of the season. O'Toole is now the property of the Minneapolis club of the American association. He was let out to Sioux City last year at a time when Denver also made a bid for his services. President McGill and Jack Hendricks are now dickering with the Minneapolis management in an effort to buy the twirler outright. Myers was sold to Brooklyn by Sioux City and it may be spring before the big leaguers will decide whether or not to keep him, but in case he is sent back to the minors, Denver has its bid and will be likely to land the prize.

DESTINATION OF AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT, 1911

A great many fans already concede the American league pennant for 1911 to the Philadelphia Athletics. This seems like a hasty conclusion, four months before the season opens. The people who believe that the result of next year's race is all cut and dried, base their conclusions upon several facts and many pet theories.

First they point out that in the history of major league ball the same team has usually won the championship two or three years in succession. When a manager succeeded in building up a winning machine he can almost count on its running smoothly for at least two years and it is not until some other baseball leader develops a first-class team that the championship takes some time to decay, o it also takes years of experiment and hard work to build up a great team.

Connie Mack has certainly put together a wonderful combination and in all probability his aggregation will be still stronger next season. To his magnificent pitching staff he has added Russell and one or two other youngsters who should make the list of box men even more formidable than it has been. Last year the Athletics broke their league record for games won and finished the race on a canter with plenty of daylight between themselves and the runner-up.

Considering these changes, it looks as if those who bank on the Mack men winning another pennant were figuring conservatively. It is the uncertainties of baseball, however, that keep the interest of countless thousands at fever heat concerning our national game.

WAGNER SEES PENNANT

Pittsburg baseball fans who were very harsh in the criticism of Hans Wagner last season are now rejoicing because the big Dutchman predicts a pennant for the Piraces this year, says the Boston Herald.

Honus seldom says much about baseball, but of late has been quoted extensively on thechances of Fred Clarke's club of which he is so valuable a member.

Toward the latter end of last season Wagner was accused of careless and listless playing by the patrons at Forbes field. Manager Clarke was also "panned," but Wagner came in for the hardest knocks.

It is evident now that these very same enchusiasts are now willing to take up their old hero worship and have taken Wagner's utterances as indicative of a desire to square himself with the home people.

Wagner should have several good seasons' left. If he can play as he did in Boston several times last year, and if he will play this sort of ball, the Pirates are pretty sure to be well up in the fight all the way.

New York looks like the team to be beaten, as McGraw figures that his charges are about due.

An effort to start boxing contests in Indianapolis, it is said, will be made about February 14.

The little babble of Clarke Griffith of the Reds, got a rise out of that peppery person, Manager Charles Boom.

Tom Shibe, guardian of the treasury of the house of Mack, is having resisters capable of immense sums put on all of the Shibe park turnstiles.

The Southeastern League has admitted Anniston, Ala., and Bristol, Tenn., making an eight-club circuit.

Jack O'Connor, ex-pilot of the Browns, is going west to take charge of a team in the new Union League.

John Murphy has the training grounds at Marlin, Tex., in great shape and is awaiting the arrival of the Giants.

Manager Hugh Duffy of the White Sox, will have Donahue, Tannehill, Collins and "Tex" Jones to try out for the first base position.

PACKY MAKES EXCUSES

Packy McFarland, prominent candidate for the lightweight championship, attributes his poor showing against Jack Britton in Indiana, to the low weight he made. "Hereafter, I will not try to make too low a weight for my fights. I was drawn too fine in the clash with Britton."

McFarland and Britton went eight rounds to a draw at the opening of the new Armory Athletic Club at Memphis, Tenn. The poor showing of McFarland brought forth a storm of disapproval from the crowds and hisses, mixed with cat calls, were very frequent.

ABE ATTELL'S NEXT MATCH

Abe Attell's first meeting after his broken arm heals will probably be with Jem Driscoll, in London. He hopes to be able to be ready for this match in March, his surgeon indicating that a quick mending of his fracture is probable. The proposed bout calls for 20 rounds at catch weights.

CONFIDENCE IN YOUNGSTER

Hughy Jennings is banking upon Jay Kirks, a young infielder, to succeed Matty McIntyre in left field. Kirks was out a bowling success as an infielder, but Manager Hughey thinks that the youngster is possessed of enough speed and hitting ability to ably supplant the Staten Islander.

WANTS FIRST BASEMAN

Fred Clark, manager of the Pirates, would give almost everything to acquire a first base man of even average type. In the past seven years the pilot of the Buccaneers has tried out no less than thirteen men. Those who could field couldn't hit, and those who could hit wouldn't field. Kitty Bransfield, would look pretty sweet to Clark right now.

Had Severe Pains In His Back.

Could Hardly Work.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Gorrie, Ont. writes:—"For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stooped down to pick up anything felt as if my back must break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was entirely cured, and feel that I cannot speak too highly in their favor.

"This was nearly four years ago and I still remain cured."

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

Price 50c per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

BISHOP WALDEN EIGHTY YEARS OLD

Well Known Bishop Has Reached Four Score Years and Lives Happy

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 11.—Hosts of friends offered their congratulations and best wishes to Bishop John M. Walden today on the eightieth anniversary of his birth. The venerable bishop is remarkably active and vigorous for a man of his age and his keen mind is unimpaired by any weight of years. Considerably over half of his eighty years the bishop has spent in the interests of the Methodist Episcopal church centering around Cincinnati, where his official residence has been for over half a century.

Born in Lebanon, O., Feb. 11, 1831, Bishop Walden spent his early life on a farm. He entered Farmers' College, graduated with honors in 1852. Two years later he entered journalistic work. Going to Wyandotte, Kas., he started and published a paper during the troubles in that state. He soon returned to Cincinnati, however, and for two years was employed as a newspaper reporter here.

In 1860 Dr. Walden was licensed as pastor of the York Street Church, and for some time he was engaged in promoting the interests of the "underground railroads." During the civil war he became colonel of the famous Cincinnati regiment known as the "Squirrel Hunters." Later he became corresponding secretary of the Western Freedmen's Aid Society, and one of the foremost leaders in the formation of the present Freedmen's Aid Society.

In 1880 Dr. Walden lacked but a few votes of being chosen as Bishop, and was elected senior book agent of the Western Methodist Book Concern. He was a prominent member of the Ecumenical Conference in London in 1881, and rendered important service in the publication committee and other business features of that body.

He was elected bishop in 1884, and ever since has been prominently before the church in publishing interests, and in the legislation of numerous conferences. He has been a prolific writer on temperance and education, and an unciring worker and able preacher as well as platform speaker.

There was no love lost between Rufus and his teacher. Rufus thought the teacher was a severe and occasionally unjust person, who had never known what it was to be young and full of fun, while the teacher considered the little darky both stupid and mischievous.

"You are not attending to what I say, Rufus," said the teacher one day in the midst of an address to her class.

"Yes, teacher, I truly is," said Rufus, with a reversion to the speech he had learned at home which often accompanied great earnestness.

"You should never say, 'I is'," commanded the teacher, "I have told you that a hundred times. You know the correct form. There are no exceptions to its use. Give me two examples at once."

"Yas'm," said Rufus meekly. "I am one of de letters of de alphabet. I am a pronoun."

PETITIONS FOR LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Notice is hereby given to all parties intending to petition for local improvements, such as sidewalks, paving, boulevards, etc., to be constructed this year, that the same should be placed in the hands of the City Commissioners on or before the fifteenth day of March, 1911. It is important that the Council should know before the season opens what work is to be undertaken this year.
Those neglecting to pay attention to this matter before the date mentioned must not feel aggrieved if their petition do not receive attention during the present season.
Blank petition forms can be secured at the Commissioners office in the City Hall.
By Order,
THE CITY COMMISSIONERS.

Suffered for Years From Constipation and Sick Headache.

Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed, some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief. The most frequent of all are bilious or sick headaches, and are caused by some derangement of the stomach or bowels, or both.
Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the digestive and biliary organs, removes acidity of the stomach, improves digestion, regulates the constipated bowels, and promises perfect circulation of pure blood to all portions of the body.
Mrs. C. Meadowe, Clarksburg, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with the headache and dizziness, and was also constipated. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I only took three bottles of the medicine, and now feel like a new person as I am completely cured. I can truthfully testify that B.B.B. is the best medicine I have ever used."
Burdock Blood Bitters, has, during the last 35 years, built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for all troubles arising from a constipated condition of the bowels.

EDISON'S WORK ON STORAGE BATTERY

Great Inventor Has Put New Life Into Electric Vehicle Trade

Within the past year the electric vehicle industry has come forward with leaps and bounds.
In the beginning electricity seemed to be the logical motive power for the automobile. Then, all of a sudden, the electric seemed to take a gigantic slump—for a number of very good reasons.
First, the rapid development of the new power, the gasoline engine, which apparently was much better adapted to the rough usage and intense vibration of the car in covering average roads. In addition to the fact that the storage battery was easily injured by the rack and par of rough going over average roads, it was heavy and cumbersome.
Besides, its performance was so inconsistent that one could gain no definite idea of the average mileage it would give on a single charge.
So the electric became a city vehicle, and even at that was everywhere regarded as an expensive luxury.
Still, in the face of all these difficulties, Thomas A. Edison contended that electricity was the proper motive power for the automobile. He made no rash promises to the public, but he made a few promises to himself.

A Big Problem.

The problem was gigantic—to build a storage battery that would stand rack and vibration of the roughest roads that should be comparatively light in weight, that should have a sufficient capacity for a full day's run, and should give a definite knowledge of its average mileage, and above all a battery that should not be injured by the ill-usage of the inexperienced owner.
A car equipped with Edison's new battery recently made a city run of over 200 miles on a single charge In a series of tests with the electric vehicle now being conducted by Mr. Edison over average country roads and steep grades of New York and New Jersey the cars have given an average of 117 1-4 miles on a single charge for the seven trips already completed, with a minimum run of 102 miles and at maximum of 139 miles.
On one of these test runs the operating cost was computed. The run was 120 miles and the expense $1.42, or a little less than one and one-fifth cents per mile.
To Thomas A. Edison more than to anyone else is due the recent phenomenal rise of the electric vehicle industry. His efforts in this field have put new life into the industry and the electric vehicle today is an actua coltending factor in he automobile world instead of the luxurious city toy of a few years ago.
How Edison accomplished the solution of the gigantic storage battery problem reads like a romance. But one classic remark, characteristic of the wizard, stands out from all the reast of the story.
He had worked for years over his battery that was to revolutionize the industry; he had made thousands of experiments—all failures. An interviewer said to him, "do you mean to say you wasted all that time?"
"What!" cried Edison. "Do you call it a waste of time to find out nine thousand things that won't work?"

ALBERTA RIFLEMEN

All aboard the westbound train,
Hey there, get off the track,
We are the Boosters from Alberta,
And, you bet we're going back,
If you're wise and take a tumble
You'll be thankful that you met
This bunch of Riflemen,
Alberta's Boosterette.

Yes, we've seen Toronto
And also Rockliffe Park,
In fact, we never had more fun,
Since Noah built the ark.
But Alberta's got them beaten,
All our sports are high class fun
That's the reason we are Boosters,
And Alberta Riflemen.

Games like tennis and baseball
To us never did appeal,
When rifle-shooting's on the go;
That's a sport just live and real.
Land yourself right in Alberta,
Then wake up, see how you feel.

We're going back to Alberta,
The fairest of them all.
We're all Alberta Boosters
Ever ready at your call.
So, goodbye, boys, we're going
And remember that you met
Alberta's bunch of Riflemen
The Boosters' Boosterette.

GO TO HOT SPRINGS

Wee Willie Keeler, who will play the coming season with Toronto, is planning for his usual spring trip to Hot Springs to get in trim for the season. By the way some of the strikeout records that have recently been published remind us that this petite wonder once played a whole season with the exception of three or four games, and was not struck out that year. A pretty fair record for a boy of his inches.

EAST END PROPERTY MOVING RAPIDLY

Number of Subdivisions Across Mill Creek to Be Thrown on Market

Strathcona, Feb. 13.—While residential property in the west end of the city in proximity to the university grounds has attracted the lion's share of attention in the present brisk movement in Strathcona realty, the east end lands are by no means being ignored by investors, neither local or outside. As a matter of fact there are many thousands of good dollars being put in property across Mill Creek these days and the buying may be said to be merely in the primary stages. A number of good sized deals are now under way for sub-divisions and several purchases are reported for the past week in acreage blocks.

Several reasons for this advance in the east end are easily given. For one the property is the highest in the district, another is the close location to the main part of the city, heretofore separated by the big valley of the Mill. But the main consideration is no doubt the high level brodge over the creek, upon which construction has already started. This viaduct will do more toward making east end sites desirable than any other undertaking that may be carried out. It is highly probable that with this bridge completed there will shortly be an extension of the street railway to that part of the city.

Among the sales announced last week was that of a portion of the Inkster farm, sixty acres of which were bought by local investors for $13,000. The land lies about three quarters of a mile east of the city limits, touching what will soon be an extension of Whyte avenue. Another block of land is reported sold in the same district but somewhat nearer town for $12,000. An option was taken some days ago on the eighty lots belonging to Mr. Adkins, immediately east of the city limits and a short distance from St. John's college, for several thousand dollars. That this property is selling within reason is attested to by an instance connected with the Inster deal. Three offers for the same amount, $13,000, were given by different investors anxious to secure the land.

It is understood that this week will see several blocks of property just across Mill Creek, and within the city limits, thrown on the market. Hon. A. C. Rutherford will likely be among these owners, some of his land going on the market today. He formerly owned all the property across the valley now included in the corporation.

No better illustration could be given of the rise in values than by that of a sale made recently across Mill Creek to the southeast. Here five acres purchased some years ago by a local man for $600, were sold a short time since for $5,000.

Strathcona Locals.

The funeral of the late R. K. Weir was held yesterday afternoon with simple but impressive services in Knox church. The local lodge of Oddfellows attended in numbers and the services included the funeral rites of the order. Burial was made in the city cemetery. The late young man was widely known and highly respected in Strathcona and vicinity, having spent many years of his life here, the last few months as manager of the Alberta Grain company's elevator. He was stricken with typhoid about one month ago and was removed to the Misercordia hospital at the same time as was his sister-in-law, Mrs. Burns who crossed the Great Divide exactly one week before his going. Mr. Weir, who was 29 years of age, was married about a year and a half ago to Miss McPhadden of this city, and the widow is left now with an infant son. Mr. and Mrs. R. Weir of Ellerslie were parents of the deceased.

Yesterday was the Temperance and Moral Reform league day in the city churches, Rev. G. W. Fortune, field secretary for Alberta, speaking in Knox Presbyterian church in the morning and in Metropolitan Methodist church in the evening. Following the latter service there was held a mass meeting of citizens in the Methodist church which was addressed by Mr. Fortune.

A novel social in the way of a St. Valentine event will be held tonight in the basement of Knox church under the management of the Queen's of Avilion. A post office through which all will receive souvenir valentines will be one of the several unique features.

Wednesday night there will be a meeting of the residents along the Wye road and vicinity to discuss the matter of opening a road to Whyte avenue from the southeastern district to give access to the Mill creek bridge. The meeting will be held in the Wye road mission hall.

Magistrate Dowes has not yet given a decision in the case of the City vs. McGuire. No new evidence was brought out in the last hearing of the trial and judgment was reserved.

Cook and Orr, general merchants who suffered the loss of their entire stock in the recent fire on Whyte avenue are opening up in new premises on Whyte avenue west, near J. G. Tipton and Son.

Rev. A. R. Shultz of the Moravian church here conducted services yesterday for the first time in several weeks, this being his first appearance in the pulpit since his severe attack of typhoid from which he is not yet altogether recovered.

A miner named Sharp was injured by the falling of a timber in the Twin City mine Friday. The man's injuries were not serious though they will prevent him working for some time.

Manager Reid of the University hockey team received a wire from Saskatoon saying it would be impossible for the Saskatoon Varsity team to play there tomorrow night, as was intended. The Strathcona students will therefore not leave today for their trip to the east.

Earnest Gibbons, for the past three or four years clerk to the C.P.R. roadmaster in this city has been promoted to a position in Calgary and left for that place last week. The position here has been filled.

The death occurred Saturday at 736 Ninth street, of John William Hopkins, son of E. L. Hopkins. The deceased who was 27 years of age, leaves a widow and one child. The funeral will take place from Connolly and McKinley's undertaking parlors.

Mr. W. L. Clark formerly of Summerside, P.E.I., has accepted a position with the Provincial Government as publicity agent. He left on this afternoon's train for Great Falls, Montana, where he will take the place of D. M. McCutcheon, who we understand is being transferred to Toronto.

Ben. Hobdich, a waiter in the Edinborough cafe on First street, paid $5.00 and costs to Magistrate Cowan this morning for having landed a solid right hand punch on the Celestial facial features of Mah Wing, cook in the same establishment. "It was worth it," was Hebdich's comment as he paid over the money.

Corporal Marshall, who has been in charge of the Edmonton detachment of the R.N.W.M.P. for the past ten months, has been transferred to a new detachment which has been opened at Prairie Creek, some fifty miles west of the end of steel on the G.T.P. right of way. Constable Ward is taking charge of the local detachment for the time being.
